

On Feb 6, 2022 we rode north of Cooke City and found 10-14" of new snow and a layer of buried weak facets that created unstable conditions. This setup makes avalanches possible to trigger on steep slopes. In this pit we had an ECTP13 break on weak facets a couple inches below the new snow. Photo: GNFAAC

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude
-109.95W

Latitude
45.09N
Cooke City, 2022-02-06